

A WONDERFUL HOLE IN THE GROUND.

The sea flows into it at the rate of 8,000,000 gallons a day, and no one knows where it goes.
IN NEXT SUNDAY'S POST-DISPATCH.

VOL. 48, NO. 243.

FRIDAY EVENING—ST. LOUIS—APRIL 9, 1897.—TEN PAGES.

DEATH MAY NOW BE PHOTOGRAPHED.

A German Scientist has succeeded by the X ray in deciding when life leaves the body.
IN NEXT SUNDAY'S POST-DISPATCH.

PRICE IN ST. LOUIS, ONE CENT. OUTSIDE ST. LOUIS, TWO CENTS.

Four Things Necessary in Business: Knowledge, Temper, Time and P.-D. Wants

GREENVILLE IS CUT OFF.

COMMUNICATION BY TELEGRAPH INTERRUPTED.

THE RISE OF THE RIVERS.

Plan in Congress for an Elaborate Levee System to Cost Many Millions of Dollars.

The following changes in the rivers (in feet and tenths) have occurred:

Risen—Parksburg, 2.4; Nashville, 1.3; Arkansas City, 0.1; St. Paul, 0.1; La Crosse, 0.2; Dubuque, 0.5; Davenport, 0.3; St. Louis, 0.5; Vicksburg, 0.3; New Orleans, 0.1; Fort Smith, 0.3.

Fallen—Chattanooga, 5.4; Helena, Ark., 0.2; Arkansas City, 0.1; Memphis, 0.1.

They are above the danger line and rising at Nashville, 2.0; St. Paul, 2.3; La Crosse, 2.5; Vicksburg, 2.9; New Orleans, 1.8; Arkansas City, 7.9.

They are above the danger line and falling at Memphis, 2.0; Helena, Ark., 1.7.

Cairo, 5.8 and stationary.

The following heavy precipitation was reported: Jacksonville, 1.30; Indianapolis, 1.00; Columbus, 1.58; Pittsburg, 1.00; Louisville, 1.08; Parksburg, 1.38; Philadelphia, 1.32; Raleigh, 1.18; St. Louis, 1.22.

The river at St. Louis will rise for the next two or three days. It will probably reach 29 feet by Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The Upper Mississippi will fall slightly.

The Missouri will continue to rise except in the extreme western portion of the State.

JACKSON, Miss., April 9.—At 10:35 a. m. to-day all wire communication with Greenville, Miss., was lost. The city has for days been seriously threatened by the Mississippi River flood. Startling rumors are current here.

It is the practice of the Western Union Telegraph Company, when the poles supporting the wires running through districts subject to overflow show signs of weakening from strong currents or softening of the earth, to build rafts, which are anchored at equal distance from each other, and place the wires on supports which are erected on them. This has been the case with the wires crossing the submerged districts in the present flood, and the failure of communication with Greenville at this juncture would indicate either that the tremendous current has broken the moorings of a raft and caused it to part the wires, or something has happened to capsize a raft. Communication would be broken in this manner if the cause should be either near or miles away from the flood-battered town.

HIGH AND DRY ON A ROCK.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 9.—The Southern and Western members representing the States along the Mississippi, which are now being devastated by the floods, will begin soon the preparation of a bill which will be used in lieu of the regular River and Harbor bill at the session in December. The plan is yet in embryo, and it will be given careful preparation. It is intended to urge upon Congress a departure from the old system of Mississippi River improvement and to incorporate in the River and Harbor bill a clause providing for a levee system which will exceed anything of the kind heretofore attempted. It will, of course, cost many millions of dollars, but the tremendous loss of human life and property by the present flood will be urged as a sufficient argument for the expenditure of any sum which promises to prevent a repetition of the present devastation.

MELLETTE, S. D., April 9.—The surrounding country is flooded, railroads are washed out and the levee has been broken for two weeks. The James River has risen seven feet higher than ever before and is a mile wide. It washed out the three iron bridges in this county. Large numbers of live stock perished in the flood. All the farm dwellings on the river bottom were swept away.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., April 9.—The citizens of Caruthersville are indignant at the misrepresentation of certain newspapers concerning the flood here. These sensational reports have done more harm to this county and town than has been done by the flood itself.

The town is in a high and dry, it is in front of the levee for the greater part, or would be, if the levee had been continued on through the town. On the north the levee runs into the high ground, on which the town stands, and is discontinued a hundred yards or more from the town limits. South of here the levee begins, less than a hundred yards inside the town limits. Seven small dwellings on the low lands near the river were invaded by the water, and the occupants driven up on higher ground. Less than two blocks are included in this overflow district. As far as

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WITHOUT A NEWS RIVAL.

The United Press has ceased to exist. It stopped business on the morning of April 8. The Associated Press has long been the greatest news-gathering agency in the world, and it is now without a competitor in the United States. Nearly all the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada are now members of the Associated Press, and competition with it in the news-gathering business is hopeless.

The POST-DISPATCH is the only afternoon newspaper in St. Louis that is a member of the Associated Press and entitled to receive its news service. Its superiority as a newspaper will therefore be more apparent than ever. It is practically impossible to make a genuine newspaper without this service, and the POST-DISPATCH has it exclusive for the afternoon field in St. Louis.

THREE WOMEN ARE ON HIS TRAIL.

TROUBLE BREWING FOR WILLIAM H. KILPATRICK.

HE IS TOO MUCH MARRIED.

Son of a South Side Magnate Dodging a Warrant for Bigamy and Other Complications.

FOUR MILES INLAND.

the town of Caruthersville is concerned, this is the extent of the injury done by the flood of 1897. With the levees, the town is not overflooded, and if every levee between the mouth of the Ohio and the South Pass were leveled back to its mother earth it could not be overflooded. It has suffered less than any other river town on either side of the river, from Cairo to Memphis. As the river has already declined a foot here, the worst is over. Within two weeks active farm work will be in full swing, corn and cotton will be planted, and the flood of 1897 will be nothing but a memory to most of the people.

Owing to the three crevasses in the south end of the levee, the lower third of Pemiscot County was flooded. Near these breaks for a short distance, generally less than a mile, the water rose higher than it ever was before, and did much damage to farms in the vicinity by sweeping away fences. Further back on the inundated district the flood of 1897 lacked twenty-six inches of reaching the height attained by the flood of 1882. For the most part, the country north of the levee is unimpaired by the flood, the levee north to Point Pleasant having stood the test nobly and protected the country fully.

Continued on second page.

Three women are camping on the trail of William H. Kilpatrick, whose father is President of the South St. Louis Foundry. Two of them claim to have been married to him. The third is Mrs. Mary Kelly of 1014 South street, whom he owes money. Mrs. Kilpatrick No. 1 has sued Kilpatrick for divorce and has secured a warrant, charging him with bigamy. Mrs. Kilpatrick No. 2 is determined to assist No. 1 to the extent of swearing to her marriage to Kilpatrick. Mrs. Kelly is doing her best to locate him, so the Deputy Sheriffs may serve him with notice of the divorce suit and the warrant for bigamy.

The divorce bill filed by wife No. 1 alleges that she was never legally separated from Kilpatrick, and charges bigamy as the ground for her application. Before her marriage was Miss Cora Schuler. She is now living at 2913 Ohio avenue with her parents. She was married to Kilpatrick, she alleges, on April 23, 1890, at Belleville, Ill. They separated in April, 1896.

Kilpatrick returned to his parents' home on Hurck street, Carondelet. Shortly after the separation he was introduced to Lulu Bliss of 1720 South Ninth street, by Lulu's sister. He made love to her, and she says, swore that his first wife had secured a divorce on the ground of desertion. He was, but 19 years old when he married first.

According to Mrs. Kilpatrick No. 2 he represented to her that he had been separated from his first wife for three years. She says a church wedding was arranged for Dec. 31, 1896, but that afternoon Kilpatrick induced her to go to Clayton with him and have the ceremony performed quietly, on the ground that he had been divorced.

Continued on second page.

A DEMOCRATIC RISE IN THE OHIO.

—From the New York Journal.

WM. J. BRYAN SEVERELY HURT

BY THE FALL OF A SCAFFOLD AT ST. AUGUSTINE.

WAS RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS.

His Face Badly Cut and Body Bruised, While Many Other Persons Were Also Injured.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., April 9.—Wm. Jennings Bryan was injured here last night by the fall of a section of a hotel piazza. The Democratic candidate for President was rendered unconscious, his face badly cut and his body bruised in several places, but his injuries are not regarded as very serious. Others in the crowd were not so fortunate. Many were internally injured, some had their legs and arms broken, while nearly everybody suffered more or less. Those most seriously injured were:

Senator Frank P. Genova; internally injured.

Miss Della Lamb, Williamstown, N. C.; fractured leg.

Mrs. R. J. Oliver; leg broken.

Claude Mourer; leg broken.

Miss Lillian Herne Andre; skull injured.

Mrs. J. F. Craddock; badly bruised.

Mrs. T. A. Pacetti; badly bruised.

Mrs. Katherine Foster; badly bruised.

Virginia Cole; badly bruised.

Judge A. J. Corbett and wife; legs and arms broken.

Amos Corbett; bruised.

Mrs. R. J. Oliver; internally hurt.

Dr. Daney; nose and face badly cut.

Mrs. Lolo Lopez; leg broken.

A. J. Benesky; leg broken.

Elwood Salmon; leg sprained.

William Mourey; leg and arms broken.

Clarence Bennett; badly hurt.

Mrs. Rose Crabtree; badly sprained.

Miss M. W. Goode; bruised and sprained.

Miss Delora Foster; both legs broken.

Mrs. Charles Dial; broken foot.

C. Lopez; fractured leg.

Mrs. Parker; internal injuries.

Mrs. W. G. Foster; nervous shock.

Unnamed persons with the piazza, which was that of the Hotel San Marco, Mr. Bryan made a speech from the piazza to 2,000 persons. He aroused considerable enthusiasm, and when he concluded the crowd made ready to surround him and shake his hand. Hundreds were packed into the piazza when, with a cracking, crashing noise, a section, 40 feet square fell to the ground, 30 feet below. A general rescue movement was immediately instituted and the injured men and women cared for.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9.—Wm. J. Bryan passed through the city this morning en route from St. Augustine to Tallahassee, where he will speak this afternoon. He seemed to be suffering considerably from the effects of the accident at St. Augustine last night, but his vigorous physique enabled him to keep up and moving.

A slight discoloration was seen above the left eye. His face was pale. These were the only outward evidences of the accident, although a ting of pain would occasionally be seen to sweep across his face. His limbs were also bandaged in several places where he received slight bruises.

HERE SHE IS AGAIN.

May Smith of Jackson and Walling Fame Causes a Suicide.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CINCINNATI, O., April 9.—It develops that the woman, Pauline West of Dayton, O., is May Smith of Louisville, notorious for her connection with Alonzo Walling and Scott Jackson. She is the woman who rejected the offer of Fred Bender at Dayton, who committed suicide with a dynamite bomb in such a horrible manner Wednesday night.

BURIAL PERMITS.

The following deaths have been reported in the city during the twenty-four hours ending at noon:

ANNIE LOWE, 25, 1605 Olive; pneumonia.

JOHN MEEHAN, 25, 229 Howard; hepatitis.

Continued on page nine.

MAN CONTEST BAGNELL'S WILL.

HIS DIVORCED WIFE COMES HERE FROM DENVER.

STRANGE LIFE REVEALED.

Wealthy Lumberman's Property Left to Two Children, Daughters of a Domestic.

Robert Bagnell had little regard for the established rules of moral rectitude, although he made an outward show of observing them.

When he died he gave society a parting slap by leaving a will, recognizing his two illegitimate daughters, and leaving to them his entire fortune.

His divorced wife is now here, contemplating the advisability of attacking this will, in an effort to secure her widow's dower interest in his real property, to which she is entitled under the laws of Missouri.

Robert Bagnell was worth at his death about $500,000. With his brother, he was engaged in the lumber and railroad tie business and other ventures. He had a beautiful home on the Bellefontaine road, north of Baden, just outside the city limits. It developed later that he had homes elsewhere.

He was considered a handsome man, and was certainly striking in appearance. He was considered a good fellow, who knew how to keep his affairs to himself and how to resent any impertinent prying into them.

The seemingly commonplace life, which ended about three months ago in the natural way, was made notable by two women—one his wife, the other the mother of his children. One was a lady of Kentucky, of irreproachable character; the other was a domestic. Both women are now in St. Louis, the widow, with her decree of divorce in the hands of her lawyer; the other in the seclusion of the home given to her by the man who had not given his name to protect her from the pointing finger of the gossiping world.

To take up Robert Bagnell's history about twelve years ago and to follow it down to its end is like reading a chapter or two by Salome. He met St. Louis in 1884 a Miss Nannie King of Paducah, Ky., who was visiting here. He fell in love with her, and when she went to her mother's home in Denver he followed and there married her in 1886.

The gossip will have it that at that time he was entangled with another woman, who extorted from him the balm which heals the heart wounds of women of her class. He bought her off that he might marry the girl from Kentucky. This was a good family. Her father was once a candidate for Governor of the Blue Grass State, and afterwards moved to Denver, where his widow still lives with several of her children.

Bagnell and his wife lived in St. Louis but a short time before they discovered they were not intended for one another. Then they separated. As time passed the gulf widened, and Bagnell sought solace elsewhere. Finally, in 1891, he went to Clayton and filed a suit for divorce. Mrs. Bagnell answered with a cross-bill, charging desertion. His allegations were in an extreme degree a physical incapacity to perform maternal functions. He related that he had urged her to submit to medical experts in America and Europe, but without avail.

The divorce suit was tried on the cross-bill, and a decree granted the wife with alimony in gross, which at that time was considered worth about $30,000. It consisted of four lots of ground in Clements addition in Denver with the four houses and their contents.

As far as she was concerned matters stood thus until Bagnell's death and the filing of the will in the Probate Court at Clayton.

When this remarkable document was examined it was found the divorced wife had been ignored entirely. From reading it one would never learn that she had existed. The will rests in a safe on the ground floor of the Clayton Court-house and right above it, on the second floor, in another safe, are the deeds and papers of the name Robert Bagnell on the wrappers of each it would never be known that they were chapters in a man's life.

After Mrs. Bagnell secured her divorce and passed out of Robert Bagnell's life he made his home in Baden with his maiden sister, Jane Bagnell, who was his housekeeper.

Here the second woman took the center of the stage. In the will the only person mentioned other than his sisters and his two children is Kate Hartman, to whom he leaves an annuity of $1,000.

He was never married to her, but had three children by her; the first, a son, who died in infancy, and two daughters now aged 3 and 6. These two children he must have loved or else his will indicates that when he made it he was in a mood to resent the restrictions of society which had become odious to him.

As nearly as could be learned the woman who became the mother of his children was when he first met her a domestic in his household. Afterwards he provided her with a home of her own, but never publicly identified himself with her. His life with her was more or less secret, although it was talked about by the neighbors.

The will on file at Clayton is a remarkable document, but leaves no doubt as to the man's intentions.

It is distinctly written in type-writer and witnessed by Charles E. Meyer and James E. Garretson. The date is June 10, 1896.

The main portion of the will reads: "I, Robert Bagnell, of the County of St. Louis and State of Missouri, being in the enjoyment of my usual health, and of sound and disposing mind, do hereby make, ordain and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills and codicils heretofore made by me."

"I direct that all of my just debts shall be paid out of my estate by my executor heretofore named, William Bagnell, of the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, all of my property of every kind and description, real, personal and mixed, and wherever the same may be located, in trust, however, to be paid

DOG AND CAT SHOW FOR MAY.

PUSSIES AND PUGS WILL CONTEST FOR FAVOR.

A NOVEL BENCH EXHIBIT.

Unique Entertainment Planned by the Women's Humane Society of Missouri.

Pretty, purring pussies, cats Maltese, cats unique and cats ordinary; Angoras and back-yard miscreants; all these will vie the first week in May for public favor with pugs of low and high degree, with poodles of culture and spaniels of refinement—and any old dog lucky enough to have drifted into safe anchorage.

St. Louis society will have a new sensation. The ladies have decided upon an innovation. There will be a bench show exclusively for house dogs and cats. A partition will separate felines from canines, so there will be no trouble.

The show will be held under the auspices of the Women's Humane Society of Missouri and the proceeds will be used to further the charitable cause for which these ladies are banded together.

A meeting was held at Mrs. T. G. Comstock's home, 324 Washington avenue, Friday morning of the committee which has the proposed bench show in charge. There were present besides Mrs. Comstock, Mesdames O. E. Forster, William Hutchison, A. Rose and R. P. Platter.

They decided that the bench show will be held the first week in May and a sub-committee was appointed to secure suitable quarters. Negotiations will be opened for Music Hall, the Masonic Hall or Harmonie Hall, and the mew-banking exhibit will be at one of the three places. It is not probable that a tent will be used.

"This will be a show entirely for house dogs and cats," said Mrs. Comstock Friday night. "It will not be so much a question of fine points in the animals exhibited as good looks and good behavior."

"However, there will be judges and prizes and all that sort of thing. I think the show will be more successful than any other held here. All lovers of dogs will attend, and then, you know, there will be much curiosity by different women to see the dogs and cats of their neighbors."

"I understand that there are a number of fine cats in the city, and we have already received assurance that they will be exhibited."

"I am afraid that a number of the exhibitors will be undecidated at this bench show," Mrs. Comstock continued. "We will have experts there who will properly classify the animals. For example, I have been deceived for eight years in Pierrot," and she pointed to a dog that was sleeping at her feet. "I supposed him to be a Chesapeake spaniel. A man who called yesterday, and who knows all about dogs, said he was a Cocker spaniel."

"If your dogs be on exhibition, Mrs. Comstock."

"The ladies have been assured assistance by the members of the Kennel Club in their undertaking."

THE WEATHER FORECAST.

FAIR; WARMER.

St. Louis and Vicinity—Fair Friday night and Saturday; warmer Saturday.

Missouri—Fair Friday night and Saturday, with mainly light frost Friday night; stationary temperature.

Illinois—Generally fair Friday night and Saturday; with possibly frost in south portion Friday night; slightly warmer Saturday.

POST-DISPATCH THERMOMETER.

7 a. m. 41 12 m. 48
8 a. m. 42 1 p. m. 50
9 a. m. 43 2 p. m. 52
10 a. m. 45 3 p. m. 54
11 a. m. 47

ARRASTS FOR BANK OFFICERS.

PROBING ALLEGED CROOKEDNESS IN THE GLOBE SAVINGS.

AN INJUNCTION SUIT BEGUN.

Court Invoked to Save the Contents of Bank and Safety Deposit Vaults.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 8.—Warrants for the arrest of Charles J. Spalding, president; A. D. Averill, vice-president, and C. E. Churchill, cashier of the defunct Globe Savings Bank, have been sworn out by Frank E. Stone of the firm of Stone & Francis, depositors in the institution. Mr. Stone, before Justice W. T. Hall and a complaint charging the officers of the bank with embezzlement was drawn up. The three warrants were at once issued.

The officers may have some difficulty in finding Spalding. Since the failure of the bank he has been "prostrated." Friends say he is under medical care in the city. At the Plaza Hotel, where he lives, it was said last night he had not been there for twenty-four hours or more.

The complaint charging Spalding, Averill and Churchill, being officers of the bank, "corruptly, wilfully, fraudulently and feloniously did receive from Frank E. Stone the sum of $200 in lawful money, on account of his firm, which was in no way indebted to the bank at that time, and which was used by the depositors to form an association for the purpose of investigating the failure of the bank and take such other action as will protect their interests in the premises."

The complaint was similar to the one on which E. S. Dreyer was arrested at the instance of the depositors in the former bank. On Sunday afternoon a meeting of depositors of the Globe Savings Bank will be held. Mr. Stone and other depositors have sent out a notice to the depositors of the Globe Savings Bank to attend the meeting, when action will be taken to form an organization to investigate and probe the failure of the bank and take such other action as will protect their interests in the premises.

Acting on the suggestion of the trustees of the University of Illinois, Receiver Leman, of the Globe Savings Bank, which closed its doors Monday, has been asked for an injunction in the Circuit Court to restrain President Spalding from taking anything out of the vaults of the Globe Savings Bank, or the vaults of the Globe Safety Deposit Company, which are supposed to be in the hands of the bank. This action is said to have been taken because it is not known where the bonds belonging to the endowment fund, valued at $400,000, are being kept. Mr. Leman, in speaking of the suit, said he did not know what was in the vault boxes, but he wanted to be on the safe side, and for that reason he secured the injunction.

Spalding from having access to them. It is said that in the vaults of the Safety Deposit Company Spalding was supposed to keep the bonds belonging to the endowment fund.

C. P. Churchill, cashier of the suspended Globe Savings Bank, for whose arrest a warrant was issued yesterday, surrendered himself to-day and furnished bonds for his appearance. President W. T. Hall, and Vice-President A. D. Averill, for whom warrants are also out, have not yet put in an appearance.

Developments to-day have brought out the fact that a large amount of the University of Illinois funds is involved in the suspension of the bank that has been supposed. Two years ago the State Legislature appropriated $250,000, of which, according to the State Treasurer, $100,000 was to be drawn out monthly to meet the current expenses of the university. It appears, however, that in consideration of the interest on the funds the university trustees allowed Treasurer Spalding to withdraw the whole sum from the treasury. This was admitted by members of the board. Thus not only are the funds of the State missing, but $250,000 in cash is tied up, and the State is unable to meet its obligations.

To add to the complications it is said that should President Spalding be unable to account for the funds his bondsmen will refuse to be held responsible, their defense being that a private deal of that kind between the State Treasurer and the State Treasurer's official and Treasurer Spalding is sufficient cause to release them from their obligations.

There is gross carelessness charged to the university officials during the latter part of Mr. Spalding's term as treasurer of the institution. It is said that his accounts have not been audited for over two years. His term expired March 1, but owing to a disagreement among the trustees as to his successor, no action for a new treasurer has been held.

Nothing definite as to Mr. Spalding's accounts with the university has been obtained until next Tuesday. In the meantime, the case assumes the aspect of a chase between the University of Illinois and the Chicago Title and Trust Co., assignees of the bank, who claim that they can get first claim on the property of Mr. Spalding.

FREAKS IN COURT.

Walking Advertisements Arrested for Blocking Sidewalks.

George Adkins and William Baker, advertising freaks, were arrested by Police-Coroner Callahan at Tenth and Olive streets for obstructing the sidewalks. Adkins mounted on a pair of four-foot stilts, which gave him an elevation somewhere in the blue empyrean, and Baker, who is about five feet high, was artificially padded so as to have a diameter of about four feet. The odd looking couple attracted a large crowd, which followed them to the Court House when they were taken to the hold over. The Judge refused to allow them to make their way around the board partition in the rear. There is a supporting railing seven feet from the ground and the entrance to the passage way and the efforts of the giant to stoop under this excited the curiosity of not only the spectators but the officers of the court and interrupted the proceedings for ten minutes.

ST. LOUIS CLUB TO MOVE.

The New Location Has Not Been Definitely Selected.

The St. Louis Club will move west soon. The club will move from its present location at Twenty-ninth and Locust streets to a new location. The new location has been definitely decided, but the location has not been selected. The directors will meet Thursday afternoon and discuss several plans and sites, but no agreement has been reached.

The locations under consideration now are the Carpenter residence, 3533 Lindell avenue; the Mack mansion, Grand avenue and Morris street; and Leverett Bell's place on Westminster place. The choice will probably fall upon the Carpenter residence on Lindell avenue, as most of the members seem to favor it. Secretary Charles Wiggins said Friday morning that it was impossible to tell with any certainty which site would be chosen.

The New Woman Paints

With "Floor-Shine" Modern Floor Colors. Sold by leading druggists and paint dealers.

Union Pacific Directors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The President has appointed John T. Brierley of Nebraska, a director of the Union Pacific Railroad, he succeeding J. Nelson, whose term has expired.

Spring Styles.

We are showing all the new shapes in Derby and Fedora Hats—in Black, Brown, Gray, Pearl, Otter, Hazel, etc. (new)—all leading blocks—in our own special

$1.75
AND
$2.50

BRANDS.

ALL HATS SOLD BY US ARE UNION MADE

And of a Recognized Standard of Excellence.

MORGAN HAT CO., 416 Olive Street,

Originators and Promoters of Low Prices on High-Grade Goods.

TURKEY GROWS IMPATIENT.

DISGUSTED AT THE FAILURE OF THE POWERS.

PRESSURE BY THE WAR PARTY.

Preparations for a Conflict Continue Throughout Turkey and in Crete.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 8.—The war preparations throughout the Turkish empire continue to be steadily pressed, although there is not much change in the Eastern situation. A very pessimistic feeling prevails here at the failure of the Powers' attempts to coerce Greece. The blockade of the Piræus seems as far off as ever, and the war party is bringing pressure to bear upon the Government, with the result that the Porte has dispatched circulars to the representatives abroad setting forth the Turkish growing impatience at the prolongation of the crisis, which is pressing heavily upon an already embarrassed exchequer.

The belief prevails here that the Powers are losing their hold over the course of events, and that their so-called concert is a failure.

A new danger has arisen through the circulation in Constantinople and in the provinces of a pamphlet reciting alleged Christian atrocities on Mussulmans in Crete and elsewhere. This is so infuriating the Greeks that the Greek Minister has drawn the attention of the Porte to the matter. The Government has proceeded to take the measures necessary to prevent outbreaks upon the part of the population.

LARISSA, April 8.—In spite of official intelligence received here yesterday, saying that the Powers have arranged to settle the Crete question by the end of the month, there is no cessation of war preparations. The State Legislature is being strengthened. The transport arrangements are admirable. The troops are full of enthusiasm, and they are splendidly equipped.

LONDON, April 8.—A dispatch to the Times from Constantinople says that the Porte communicated to the Ambassadors the contents of three circulars dispatched to the Ottoman representatives abroad. The first, dated April 6, notifies the Powers that the Porte is willing to withdraw the Turkish garrison from Crete immediately if the Greeks previously withdraw and the Powers produce a guarantee of the island. It demands also that Greece should evacuate Crete forthwith. The second is dated April 7, and protests against the withdrawal of the appointment by the Powers of a European Governor of the island. The third, dated April 7, protests against the disarmament of the Cretan Mohammedans while the Christians are permitted to retain their arms.

The Athens correspondent of the Times says: The opinion of the Greek newspapers is virtually unanimous in their condemnation of the Powers. It is that the European concert, after a conspicuous failure as to Crete, is now a mere facade, and will be obliged to content itself with a virtual disavowal. There is an evident disinclination to continue some of the Powers to carry out any promise, and the concert is being dissolved for purpose in the European federation, which is showing signs of disintegration. This is the opinion of the Greek press, and the recent warning of the Journal de St. Pétersbourg, has been noticed here, and has led to the Russian initiative.

Count Kuravlev, the Russian Foreign Minister, has already become the bete noir of the Greeks. His uniformly hostile attitude toward Greece has been commented upon abroad. The Greek press has been particularly bitter in its attacks upon him. He is said to have received a letter from Count Kuravlev, who intimates that an automatic family, is resolved to play a more active role in European politics and to interrupt the proceedings for ten minutes.

One of the opposition journals professes to know that a proposal has been communicated to Greece through one of its representatives abroad that Greece will submit to the Powers in the Crete affair the will receive as a recompense the territory of Macedonia, which is one of the largest portions of Macedonia, including Salonica.

CANEA, April 8.—The Admirals of the fleet, who are here, have been invited to a meeting at Suda. The question discussed was whether the Consuls should renew parity with the insurgents. It was decided not to do so.

The Consuls pointed out that further parity with the insurgents was useless, because they were unable to give them definite information relative to the withdrawal of the Turkish troops or furnish the autonomous leaders details regarding the autonomous form of Government which the Powers proposed to confer on Crete.

The Mussulmans of Suda are suffering for want of water, the wells of the town not sufficing to supply their needs and the insurgents driving them back whenever they attempt to obtain water outside, in spite of the protection afforded by the foreign troops.

A detachment of 600 additional Russian troops and an additional detachment of 700 British troops have arrived here.

LEFT WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Thomas J. Brinton Mysteriously Missing for Three Days.

C. R. Brinton, a traveling salesman, living at 222 Olive street, called at the Court House Friday morning to request the assistance of the police in locating his brother, Thos. J. Brinton.

Thomas Brinton is 41 years old and was formerly in the commission business in St. Joseph, Mo. He retired from business at the beginning of the year. He lived with his wife and five children at 183 Clay street west Tuesday night when he left home to go down town. None of his relatives have heard from him since. Mr. Brinton thinks his brother may have come to this city.

Glass Works Burned.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 8.—The Poughkeepsie Glass Works were completely destroyed by fire to-day. The loss approximately $100,000; insurance, $90,000.

FORCING SALES!

If the weather were settled and the mercury stood at 80, do you think you could buy clothes as cheaply as the prices quoted below? Not much! With a backward spring sales are apt to be slow---and in a desperate effort to make sales brisk we rip things wide open! That's why you will save much more than usual by buying your spring outfit here Saturday.

FREE.
Easter Novelties given away free Saturday with every purchase of Children's Shoes at 50 cents a pair or higher.

OUR MEN'S SUITS
Beat the world for Style and Price.
Men's all-wool round and square cut Sack Suits, an immense range of fabric and pattern, splendidly made and trimmed, would easily pass for Suits worth $10.00 or $12.00; we sell Saturday at..... $7.50
Men's All-Wool Suits, in Single and Double-Breasted Sack and Cut-away styles, practically every known fabric produced from the looms of this country—properly cut, properly made and equal in fit and finish to what the tailor would give you for $20; "The Fair" sells Saturday at..... $10.00
Men's All-Wool Suits, in Single and Double-Breasted and Cutaway styles, of very fine material, beautifully lined and elegantly trimmed, as fine an imitation of tailor-made suits as you find anywhere at $25.00; "The Fair" sells Saturday at..... $12.50

Boys' Long Pant Suits,
For Ages 14 to 19.
Remarkable Values for which "The Fair" is justly celebrated.
Boys' Long Pant Suits, of all-wool Cheviot, in very neat plaids and checks, well cut, well made; that ought to sell for at least $7.50; "The Fair" offers Saturday at..... $5.00
Boys' Long Pant Suits, of all-wool Cassimeres, Cheviots and Worsters, in every new pattern out this season, stylishly cut and elegantly tailored; you will not find a better one in any clothing store in town at $10.00. "The Fair" offers Saturday at..... $7.50
Boys' Long Pant Suits, of the finest fabrics now in vogue; cut on very latest patterns, trimmed in most elegant manner and tailored out of sight; in fact, equal to anything that money can buy in ready-to-wear garments, which must be seen to be appreciated. Saturday your pick of 1,200 of these suits at..... $10.00

Boys' Confirmation Suits.
"The Fair" is the place—No such line as ours in the length and breadth of this town and we make the prices so low that you will be astonished; as high as $10 and as low as..... $2.95

Boys' Long Pants,
Of All-Wool Cassimeres, Cheviots and Worsters, correctly made and beautifully tailored; you will be surprised to see how good a pair we will sell you Saturday for..... $1.95

Boys' Good, Strong, Well-Made Pants,
Of Cassimeres; one of our truly remarkable bargains Saturday at..... 95c

Boys' Long Pants,
Of All-Wool Cassimeres, Cheviots and Worsters, correctly made and beautifully tailored; you will be surprised to see how good a pair we will sell you Saturday for..... $1.45

Boys' Long Pants,
Of All-Wool Cassimeres, Cheviots and Worsters, correctly made and beautifully tailored; you will be surprised to see how good a pair we will sell you Saturday for..... $1.95

Boys' Long Pants,
Of All-Wool Cassimeres, Cheviots and Worsters, correctly made and beautifully tailored; you will be surprised to see how good a pair we will sell you Saturday for..... $1.95

St. Louis Post-Dispatch,
PUBLISHED BY THE PULITZER PUBLISHING CO.
FOUNDED BY JOSEPH PULITZER.
CHARLES H. JONES,
Editor and Manager.
Office 513 Olive Street.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

BY CARRIER, ST. LOUIS AND SUBURBS
Daily and Sunday—Per Week.....10 Cents
Daily and Sunday—Per Month.....45 Cents
Daily and Sunday—Per Year.....50 Cents
BY MAIL—IN ADVANCE.
Daily and Sunday—Per Week.....$6.00
Daily and Sunday—Per Month.....$3.00
Daily and Sunday—Per Year.....$30.00
Sunday—Per Week.....$1.00
Sunday—Per Month.....$8.00
Sunday—Per Year.....$80.00
Weekly—One Year.....$50.00

Daily and Sunday by carrier, in towns outside of St. Louis, 15 cents a week, 50 cents a month. West day only, 10 cents a week. Remit by money order, draft or in registered letter. Don't send cash. The price of the Post-Dispatch on all railroad trains and in all hotels is 5 cents. If you wish to receive the paper by mail, please send us the name of your carrier or station and number of train. Subscribers who fail to receive their paper regularly will confer a favor by reporting the same to the office.

Address all communications to POST-DISPATCH, St. Louis.
Entered at the Postoffice at St. Louis as second-class matter.

TELEPHONE NUMBERS.
Business Office.....4064
Editorial Room.....4065
The St. C. Beckwith Special Agency,
Agent Post-Dispatch, New York,
48 Tribune Building, New York,
and 480 The Rookery, Chicago.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.
CENTURY—"The Jucklers."
OLYMPIC—"The Speculator."
HAYLINS—"A Baggage Check."
HAGAN—Continued.
HOPKINS—Continued.
STANDARD—Twentieth Century Sports.
FOURTEENTH STREET—"Youth and Old Age."

MATINEES TO-MORROW.
CENTURY—"The Jucklers."
OLYMPIC—"The Speculator."
HAYLINS—"A Baggage Check."
HAGAN—Continued.
HOPKINS—Continued.
STANDARD—Twentieth Century Sports.

WORK FOR THE CIVIC FEDERATION.
Mr. Ziegenhain has now attained a position where, while no more amenable to the law than in the office of Collector, and under no more statutory or moral obligation to regard his official oath, he can be more easily reached through the courts. When he attempts to defy or override the law he can be estopped by judicial process.

When Ziegenhain as Mayor refuses to enforce a law, the enforcement of which the statute makes mandatory upon him, he can be mandamusd. When he attempts to extend his power, the law does not confer upon him he can be enjoined. While any tax-payer can bring suit in such cases, experience has shown that individual action is hard to get. In such an emergency as St. Louis is now called to face it is fortunate that there is an organization, strong, capable, representative of public intelligence and morals, to exercise vigilance in the conservation of public interest and the enforcement of the law.

Mayor Ziegenhain, unchecked, would in four years breed a spirit of lawlessness and anarchy dangerous to the public welfare. The Civic Federation has a work to do.

THE BUNKOED FARMERS.
If our farmers could realize on the coming winter wheat crop the price at which last year's crop was sold after it left their hands, they could make something. But they are not to be so lucky again.

During last September and October, when wheat prices were advanced to affect the coming election and make money for grain gamblers, the Post-Dispatch called attention to figures proving that, before any appreciable advance in price was made the bulk of the grain had been sold by farmers and that the profits had been and would be realized by gamblers and speculators.

The high prices were maintained, through shortage and famine abroad, until the time arrived for beginning to fix the market price for the growing crop. That time is now at hand, and in spite of the fact of continued shortage and famine abroad, and of positive evidence of a poor harvest this year at home, the gamblers and manipulators have hammered down prices to a lower point than they were at this time last year.

It is as plain now as anything can be, that the farmer is not to be allowed to have the benefit of high prices. He is even to be forced to sell lower than he did last year, when he sold at a loss. He is to be made again the victim of manipulation and gambling combination. And after he has sold his crop at a loss prices will go up again.

A PINKERTON CHIEF.
The newly appointed Police Commissioners of Kansas City named by Gov. Stephens have made a bad beginning. They have turned out a stalwart free silver Democrat as Chief of Police and appointed as his successor a man who has been in the service of the Pinkertons for twenty-four years, and who until he was appointed Chief of Police was Superintendent of the Pinkerton Agency in Kansas City.

In making this appointment the Police Commissioners have acted contrary to Democratic sentiment and Democratic principles. Pinkertonism was discredited and condemned by good Democrats years ago. The Pinkerton system lent itself to the schemes of plutocratic tyranny and proved itself a willing enemy of the working man. It has been condemned in national conventions, and Congress went so far as to pass a law that no Pinkerton man should hold a Federal office.

The Kansas City Police Commissioners, in making this appointment, have insulted the Democrats of the State and shown that they are more anxious to curry favor with Republicans and boot-lacks than with the Democratic party. One of the Commissioners, who was said to have leanings towards the gold standard and all that it implies, professed conversion and claimed to be a good free silver man. On that understanding he was appointed. The recent action of the Commissioners would indicate that his conversion was insincere, and that "there are others."

Mr. Police Commissioners can appoint a Pinkerton as Chief of Police and claim to be Democrats. And if they make such an appointment, then the Democratic party will repudiate them.

"BRYANISM" RAMPANT.
The most significant utterance regarding the Democratic victories in the municipal elections this week appeared in the New York Sun of Tuesday morning. Up to a day or two before the election, the prevailing opinion in the East was that the Republicans would sweep Chicago with a majority similar to that of last year. At the time the Sun's article was written, confidence in this outcome of the campaign had begun to be shaken. But neither the Sun's writer nor any other Eastern journalist or publicist had the remotest idea that the Democrats would win such a phenomenal victory in Chicago as they won on the day the article was printed. Here is an extract from the Sun's editorial:

"The main importance of the election is in the fact that Harrison represents the Bryanism of Chicago, and his candidacy brings to the front the issues of the last national campaign. If, then, Harrison should be elected, the political consequences might be great and far-reaching. In the first considerable election since the defeat of Bryan last November the silver Democrats would demonstrate their superiority; and the result would be likely to have a powerful influence in determining the course of next year's campaign in the Greater New York. It would tend to stimulate and intensify the opposition to the plan of nominating a gold Democrat, which has already sprung up in Tammany Hall. It might even assure Tammany's persistent and unshaken devotion to Bryanism. Therein lies the great importance of to-day's election at Chicago.

There can be no doubt that, as the Sun foresees, the effect of the Chicago victory, emphasized as it was by noteworthy victories in all the other large cities in which elections were held this week, except St. Louis, will be to give a great impetus to what the Sun calls 'Bryanism.' These victories demonstrate that the Democrats of the West were not discouraged by their defeat in November last; that they regard that defeat as merely one of the incidents of political warfare; that their faith in their cause and their enthusiasm for it are unabated and unabated; and that they look forward to the future with that confidence which is in itself one of the most essential conditions of success.

To the Sun and the purling people of the East who have been accepting its teachings and swallowing its prophecies the result of these elections no doubt comes with a shock of surprise. The shock will be intensified when the returns come in from the Congressional elections next year, and it will be cataclysmal in 1900. The Sun may as well prepare itself for a series of surprises.

SILVER AND THE TARIFF TAX.
One of the ablest of the journals which left the Democratic party last year was the Chronicle of Chicago. It brought to the service of the money power a skill, a fertility of resource in dealing with facts destructive of its own theories, and a power of making the worse appear the better. Its policy was to attack the silver cause, which it called the 'evil influence,' and to fill in the statement of facts and argument, its influence in the advocacy of wrong conclusions was made all the greater. And how great it was is revealed in the election returns from all that part of the country tributary to Chicago. It swayed its section; and there is no higher test of newspaper power.

But the Chronicle repents. Like Frankenstein, it shrinks back appalled from the work of its own hands. Last year it thought and said that the danger of McKinleyism with all its abominations, its over-taxing of the poor, its making of the rich richer and the poor poorer, its creation of a privileged class, and all the evils that attend the abuse of the taxing power, would be less than the danger of remonetizing silver. It consoled itself with the belief that the silver cause could not win defeat.

The Dingley bill is now the evidence, and the Chronicle, viewing it as the expression of the purpose of the party in power, admitting the imminence of its oppression and injustice, sees the triumph of the silver cause as a possible result. "The Dingley bill," says the Chronicle, "is going to make more silver men than did the real of the Sherman law."

In the logic of things a financial policy which seeks to adjust values to a restricted money standard should not be linked with a fiscal policy which, by force of law, inflates the values of favored articles to be purchased by the producers of articles not so favored. So far from being antagonistic, these two policies are antagonistic. The English policy of making a gold standard coincident with free trade is more sensible and has justified itself in results better than the McKinley policy ever can. That the McKinley policy, both in what it does and fails to do, will result in the growth of silver sentiment in the United States there is no doubt.

But what did the Chronicle expect? The Illinois Senate has passed the bill providing that every child between 7 and 14 years of age shall attend school sixteen weeks every year, and it is likely that the bill will become a law. There is an unusual tendency toward child supervision just now. It is particularly noticeable in the number of towns that are ringing curfew bells as well as school bells.

The greedy silver-plunders of Louisiana have been informed by Senator Caffery that he will resign his seat in the Senate rather than desert his party. If these grabbers get anything it should come through the Republican Senators, whose business it is to plunder consumers.

If the 80,000,000 people of Amoy and other Asiatic millions can be supplied with American flour, we shall have almost as good a thing as Col. Sellers had with his eye-water. The Dingley bill, however, is in the way of further extending our foreign trade.

The women of Denver have proved themselves better politicians than the bootlickers. They made a still hunt and the water corporation that has been fattening on the city will now be a thing of the past. Susan Anthony must be a very happy young woman to-day.

A strong anti-Trust bill has just passed the Pennsylvania Senate. So much opposition to trusts in so ultra a high tariff

State is surprising. The National House of Representatives voting for trusts and the Pennsylvania Senate voting against them will occasion general remark.

There are in the Chicago Record some lines on Mr. Cleveland's Wash. Hesing, who received the smallest vote for Mayor of Chicago on Tuesday. They close in this melancholy fashion:

"Break, break, break
On thy shores, unsealed sea,
But the office fat that I had is gone,
And the new one misses me."

One of Gov. Tanner's first triumphs as a promoted statesman is the breaking of a Chicago bank by withdrawing State funds from it. The breaking of a bank at a time when there is so great a lack of confidence is a serious matter in the eyes of most anybody but an ambitious politician.

It is curious that when a just law is passed by a Legislature, at the demand of the people, there should be an expectation that the courts will nullify it. The Trans-Missouri decision surprised many people who believed the combines to be impregnable fortified in the courts.

There is going to be a great deal of interesting reading in the Post-Dispatch of next Sunday. No other Sunday journal in St. Louis can compete successfully with the Sunday Post-Dispatch. It is the favorite Sabbath visitor in the homes of St. Louis.

Tom Platt and Gov. Black have made a great mistake in legislating cartoons out of the New York newspapers. The two will now dwell in more or less obscurity, compared with the prominence they have hitherto enjoyed.

The Democratic of the spring elections has led Mr. Hanna to postpone his purpose of renting a house in Washington until he is elected to the Senate. He might not be able to transfer his lease to a Democrat.

The West should demand as much protection as the East is to have. What cannot be helped by a tariff duty can be supported by a bounty. Why discredit the tariff theory by sectional greed and unfairness?

Board of Trade petitions will not represent the people in the matter of the proposed monetary commission. Congress would be foolish to pay any attention to the vagaries of the Indianapolis conference.

The rush to honor Bryan has resulted rather seriously to the popular favorite. The accident at St. Augustine shows how important it is to provide for a big crowd wherever Mr. Bryan appears.

The Southern Republicans are charged with fighting harder over the offices than any other applicants. Should their services in the nominating convention be therefore forgotten?

A kind millionaire has just presented Mr. McKinley a fine saddle horse, but it will not cost the Canton man away from the office-seeking host or save him from Dingley.

The cramped quarters and the poor reading light of the free public library were doubtless realized by many of the voters who failed to scratch on Tuesday.

Spanish "reforms" have added the people of Porto Rico to the tide of rebellion in the colonies of Spain. Greed and stupidity continue to drag down Hispania.

The railing of the railway people at the Supreme Court is undignified. Have we not been taught to respect all such high tribunals and to bow to their decisions?

With the rivers running up stream, down stream and across lots, a few April showers held back by the Weather Bureau would not be missed.

When Mr. McKinley has to decide between a Filley hoodlum and a Kerens cormorant, he will want to get out of Washington again.

The fragments of Gov. Tanner's machine ought to keep Chicago in kindling for the remainder of this backward spring.

The real estate license reduction from $100 to $25 is just in time for any boom that may appear for the spring months.

The foreign protests will not frighten faithful high tariffers, who believe that foreigners pay the tax.

St. Louis looks exceedingly lonesome in the midst of the great Democratic victories in other cities.

The bulldozed employee was not so much bulldozed in this week's elections as he was in November.

Some of Col. Bob Ingersoll's suicide tracts must have been distributed among the children.

The vote on the library building was the smallest cast. It should have been the largest.

Ex-Senator Palmer, as well as Senator Cullom, now knows how "unfit" Mr. McKinley is.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
From the New York Press.
Discretion is often the worst part of valor.

Men love most to be admired; women love most to be loved.
Men always like to have girls think that they got so scared when they propose.
A woman always judges a man's clothes by the way her favorite article dresses.

The proof that men are vain is that they are so vain when they show it. Style is the way all women dress; distinction is the way only one woman dresses.

FLIRTATION.
From the Quaker Latin.
You ask me why my heart's as gay
To never fret when women say
As it was only yesterday.
An hour before she proved untrue,
And left me in this horrid stew,
With all her modish bills to pay.

You know, ma chere, it is my way
To never fret when women say
Me false, in spite of which even you,
You ask me why!

That's not the reason, sir, you say;
You're a little too vain for that.
Ahem! Her exit gives the cue
For me to try my luck with you!
You guessed as much? And partied!
You ask me why!

ST. GEORGE BEST.

State is surprising. The National House of Representatives voting for trusts and the Pennsylvania Senate voting against them will occasion general remark.

There are in the Chicago Record some lines on Mr. Cleveland's Wash. Hesing, who received the smallest vote for Mayor of Chicago on Tuesday. They close in this melancholy fashion:

"Break, break, break
On thy shores, unsealed sea,
But the office fat that I had is gone,
And the new one misses me."

One of Gov. Tanner's first triumphs as a promoted statesman is the breaking of a Chicago bank by withdrawing State funds from it. The breaking of a bank at a time when there is so great a lack of confidence is a serious matter in the eyes of most anybody but an ambitious politician.

It is curious that when a just law is passed by a Legislature, at the demand of the people, there should be an expectation that the courts will nullify it. The Trans-Missouri decision surprised many people who believed the combines to be impregnable fortified in the courts.

There is going to be a great deal of interesting reading in the Post-Dispatch of next Sunday. No other Sunday journal in St. Louis can compete successfully with the Sunday Post-Dispatch. It is the favorite Sabbath visitor in the homes of St. Louis.

Tom Platt and Gov. Black have made a great mistake in legislating cartoons out of the New York newspapers. The two will now dwell in more or less obscurity, compared with the prominence they have hitherto enjoyed.

The Democratic of the spring elections has led Mr. Hanna to postpone his purpose of renting a house in Washington until he is elected to the Senate. He might not be able to transfer his lease to a Democrat.

The West should demand as much protection as the East is to have. What cannot be helped by a tariff duty can be supported by a bounty. Why discredit the tariff theory by sectional greed and unfairness?

Board of Trade petitions will not represent the people in the matter of the proposed monetary commission. Congress would be foolish to pay any attention to the vagaries of the Indianapolis conference.

The rush to honor Bryan has resulted rather seriously to the popular favorite. The accident at St. Augustine shows how important it is to provide for a big crowd wherever Mr. Bryan appears.

The Southern Republicans are charged with fighting harder over the offices than any other applicants. Should their services in the nominating convention be therefore forgotten?

A kind millionaire has just presented Mr. McKinley a fine saddle horse, but it will not cost the Canton man away from the office-seeking host or save him from Dingley.

The cramped quarters and the poor reading light of the free public library were doubtless realized by many of the voters who failed to scratch on Tuesday.

Spanish "reforms" have added the people of Porto Rico to the tide of rebellion in the colonies of Spain. Greed and stupidity continue to drag down Hispania.

The railing of the railway people at the Supreme Court is undignified. Have we not been taught to respect all such high tribunals and to bow to their decisions?

With the rivers running up stream, down stream and across lots, a few April showers held back by the Weather Bureau would not be missed.

When Mr. McKinley has to decide between a Filley hoodlum and a Kerens cormorant, he will want to get out of Washington again.

The fragments of Gov. Tanner's machine ought to keep Chicago in kindling for the remainder of this backward spring.

The real estate license reduction from $100 to $25 is just in time for any boom that may appear for the spring months.

The foreign protests will not frighten faithful high tariffers, who believe that foreigners pay the tax.

St. Louis looks exceedingly lonesome in the midst of the great Democratic victories in other cities.

The bulldozed employee was not so much bulldozed in this week's elections as he was in November.

Some of Col. Bob Ingersoll's suicide tracts must have been distributed among the children.

The vote on the library building was the smallest cast. It should have been the largest.

Ex-Senator Palmer, as well as Senator Cullom, now knows how "unfit" Mr. McKinley is.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
From the New York Press.
Discretion is often the worst part of valor.

Men love most to be admired; women love most to be loved.
Men always like to have girls think that they got so scared when they propose.
A woman always judges a man's clothes by the way her favorite article dresses.

The proof that men are vain is that they are so vain when they show it. Style is the way all women dress; distinction is the way only one woman dresses.

FLIRTATION.
From the Quaker Latin.
You ask me why my heart's as gay
To never fret when women say
As it was only yesterday.
An hour before she proved untrue,
And left me in this horrid stew,
With all her modish bills to pay.

You know, ma chere, it is my way
To never fret when women say
Me false, in spite of which even you,
You ask me why!

That's not the reason, sir, you say;
You're a little too vain for that.
Ahem! Her exit gives the cue
For me to try my luck with you!
You guessed as much? And partied!
You ask me why!

ST. GEORGE BEST.

State is surprising. The National House of Representatives voting for trusts and the Pennsylvania Senate voting against them will occasion general remark.

There are in the Chicago Record some lines on Mr. Cleveland's Wash. Hesing, who received the smallest vote for Mayor of Chicago on Tuesday. They close in this melancholy fashion:

"Break, break, break
On thy shores, unsealed sea,
But the office fat that I had is gone,
And the new one misses me."

One of Gov. Tanner's first triumphs as a promoted statesman is the breaking of a Chicago bank by withdrawing State funds from it. The breaking of a bank at a time when there is so great a lack of confidence is a serious matter in the eyes of most anybody but an ambitious politician.

It is curious that when a just law is passed by a Legislature, at the demand of the people, there should be an expectation that the courts will nullify it. The Trans-Missouri decision surprised many people who believed the combines to be impregnable fortified in the courts.

There is going to be a great deal of interesting reading in the Post-Dispatch of next Sunday. No other Sunday journal in St. Louis can compete successfully with the Sunday Post-Dispatch. It is the favorite Sabbath visitor in the homes of St. Louis.

Tom Platt and Gov. Black have made a great mistake in legislating cartoons out of the New York newspapers. The two will now dwell in more or less obscurity, compared with the prominence they have hitherto enjoyed.

The Democratic of the spring elections has led Mr. Hanna to postpone his purpose of renting a house in Washington until he is elected to the Senate. He might not be able to transfer his lease to a Democrat.

The West should demand as much protection as the East is to have. What cannot be helped by a tariff duty can be supported by a bounty. Why discredit the tariff theory by sectional greed and unfairness?

Board of Trade petitions will not represent the people in the matter of the proposed monetary commission. Congress would be foolish to pay any attention to the vagaries of the Indianapolis conference.

The rush to honor Bryan has resulted rather seriously to the popular favorite. The accident at St. Augustine shows how important it is to provide for a big crowd wherever Mr. Bryan appears.

The Southern Republicans are charged with fighting harder over the offices than any other applicants. Should their services in the nominating convention be therefore forgotten?

A kind millionaire has just presented Mr. McKinley a fine saddle horse, but it will not cost the Canton man away from the office-seeking host or save him from Dingley.

The cramped quarters and the poor reading light of the free public library were doubtless realized by many of the voters who failed to scratch on Tuesday.

Spanish "reforms" have added the people of Porto Rico to the tide of rebellion in the colonies of Spain. Greed and stupidity continue to drag down Hispania.

The railing of the railway people at the Supreme Court is undignified. Have we not been taught to respect all such high tribunals and to bow to their decisions?

With the rivers running up stream, down stream and across lots, a few April showers held back by the Weather Bureau would not be missed.

When Mr. McKinley has to decide between a Filley hoodlum and a Kerens cormorant, he will want to get out of Washington again.

The fragments of Gov. Tanner's machine ought to keep Chicago in kindling for the remainder of this backward spring.

The real estate license reduction from $100 to $25 is just in time for any boom that may appear for the spring months.

The foreign protests will not frighten faithful high tariffers, who believe that foreigners pay the tax.

St. Louis looks exceedingly lonesome in the midst of the great Democratic victories in other cities.

The bulldozed employee was not so much bulldozed in this week's elections as he was in November.

Some of Col. Bob Ingersoll's suicide tracts must have been distributed among the children.

The vote on the library building was the smallest cast. It should have been the largest.

Ex-Senator Palmer, as well as Senator Cullom, now knows how "unfit" Mr. McKinley is.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
From the New York Press.
Discretion is often the worst part of valor.

Men love most to be admired; women love most to be loved.
Men always like to have girls think that they got so scared when they propose.
A woman always judges a man's clothes by the way her favorite article dresses.

The proof that men are vain is that they are so vain when they show it. Style is the way all women dress; distinction is the way only one woman dresses.

FLIRTATION.
From the Quaker Latin.
You ask me why my heart's as gay
To never fret when women say
As it was only yesterday.
An hour before she proved untrue,
And left me in this horrid stew,
With all her modish bills to pay.

You know, ma chere, it is my way
To never fret when women say
Me false, in spite of which even you,
You ask me why!

That's not the reason, sir, you say;
You're a little too vain for that.
Ahem! Her exit gives the cue
For me to try my luck with you!
You guessed as much? And partied!
You ask me why!

ST. GEORGE BEST.

State is surprising. The National House of Representatives voting for trusts and the Pennsylvania Senate voting against them will occasion general remark.

There are in the Chicago Record some lines on Mr. Cleveland's Wash. Hesing, who received the smallest vote for Mayor of Chicago on Tuesday. They close in this melancholy fashion:

"Break, break, break
On thy shores, unsealed sea,
But the office fat that I had is gone,
And the new one misses me."

One of Gov. Tanner's first triumphs as a promoted statesman is the breaking of a Chicago bank by withdrawing State funds from it. The breaking of a bank at a time when there is so great a lack of confidence is a serious matter in the eyes of most anybody but an ambitious politician.

It is curious that when a just law is passed by a Legislature, at the demand of the people, there should be an expectation that the courts will nullify it. The Trans-Missouri decision surprised many people who believed the combines to be impregnable fortified in the courts.

There is going to be a great deal of interesting reading in the Post-Dispatch of next Sunday. No other Sunday journal in St. Louis can compete successfully with the Sunday Post-Dispatch. It is the favorite Sabbath visitor in the homes of St. Louis.

Tom Platt and Gov. Black have made a great mistake in legislating cartoons out of the New York newspapers. The two will now dwell in more or less obscurity, compared with the prominence they have hitherto enjoyed.

The Democratic of the spring elections has led Mr. Hanna to postpone his purpose of renting a house in Washington until he is elected to the Senate. He might not be able to transfer his lease to a Democrat.

The West should demand as much protection as the East is to have. What cannot be helped by a tariff duty can be supported by a bounty. Why discredit the tariff theory by sectional greed and unfairness?

Board of Trade petitions will not represent the people in the matter of the proposed monetary commission. Congress would be foolish to pay any attention to the vagaries of the Indianapolis conference.

The rush to honor Bryan has resulted rather seriously to the popular favorite. The accident at St. Augustine shows how important it is to provide for a big crowd wherever Mr. Bryan appears.

The Southern Republicans are charged with fighting harder over the offices than any other applicants. Should their services in the nominating convention be therefore forgotten?

A kind millionaire has just presented Mr. McKinley a fine saddle horse, but it will not cost the Canton man away from the office-seeking host or save him from Dingley.

The cramped quarters and the poor reading light of the free public library were doubtless realized by many of the voters who failed to scratch on Tuesday.

Spanish "reforms" have added the people of Porto Rico to the tide of rebellion in the colonies of Spain. Greed and stupidity continue to drag down Hispania.

The railing of the railway people at the Supreme Court is undignified. Have we not been taught to respect all such high tribunals and to bow to their decisions?

With the rivers running up stream, down stream and across lots, a few April showers held back by the Weather Bureau would not be missed.

When Mr. McKinley has to decide between a Filley hoodlum and a Kerens cormorant, he will want to get out of Washington again.

The fragments of Gov. Tanner's machine ought to keep Chicago in kindling for the remainder of this backward spring.

The real estate license reduction from $100 to $25 is just in time for any boom that may appear for the spring months.

The foreign protests will not frighten faithful

The New Mayor Will Have the Usual
Trouble Making the Loaves and Fishes Go Round.

Free Thinkers' Convention.
Preparations are being made for the convention of Free Congregations and Free Thinkers' Associations, to open in St. Louis May 19. At a meeting held at Twentieth and Dodder streets Thursday night William Peterson, William Fredericks, Henry Jungaus, H. P. Schmidt and Max Hempel were elected delegates to the convention from the North St. Louis congregation.

This bolt was deliberate and premeditated.

diphtheria scare at the institution. Christian Herzog, a 7-year-old insane patient, and Jennie Childers, Mary Boyle and Sarah Nicholson have contracted diphtheria within the last week. The doctors feared the disease would become epidemic and used the anti-toxine treatment on all the patients. Several of the physicians are also taking the treatment as a precaution.

"We were not ready in the first place, and in the next we could not afford to put in conduits all over the city at prices the city would ask and insist upon," he said.

"They will have to amend their specifications considerably if they want to get any bids from us."

From the view taken by President McMath

Deputy Coroner Lloyd, who lives close by, was summoned and he administered a soothing lotion. An inquest was held Friday and a verdict of accidental death returned.

ating it rests the stomach and nourishes the system. The pain and distresses of dyspepsia disappear before it. It prevents fermentation and soon restores full power to the digestion. It succeeds in the worst cases. It is worthy the name of the people whose name it bears. Any druggist will sell you a trial bottle for ten cents.

Kansas City Mail and Express, daily	8:00 am	6:30 pm
Kansas City and Ottumwa, daily	9:30 am	6:15 pm
Liberty Accommodation, daily	4:45 am	11:00 am
Kansas City, Denver, Omaha, Des Moines and St. Paul Express, daily	9:00 pm	7:00 am
Kansas City Limited	11:30 pm	9:00 am
Fast Mail		9:00 am

EMPLOYMENT GROUPING.

Bought, sold and exchanged

THROUGH P. D. WANTS.

FOURTEEN WORDS 20 CENTS.

Any Drug Store in St. Louis is authorized to receive Advertisements and Subscriptions for the Post-Dispatch. The Post-Dispatch has three telephone numbers exclusively for handling this business.

Remember that your Druggist serves you at all hours, day or night, 365 days in the year, and especially when you are in distress. When you call in his line, paralyze him.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALE.

20 words or less, 5c.

BOY—Wanted, situation by boy of 16; had two years' experience in drug store; willing to work in railroad office. Ad. 1576, this office.

BOY—Wanted, situation by boy of 16, experienced 2 years as painter and painter. 1211 Geyer.

BOOK-KEEPER—Young man wishes position as book-keeper, assistant or any other clerical work; reference. Ad. 1578, this office.

BARBER—A barber wants situation; stranger in city; good workman; reference. Ad. 1576, this office.

COACHMAN—Wanted, situation by an Englishman as coachman; thoroughly understanding the care of horses and carriages; best of references. Ad. 1577, this office.

DRUGGIST—Registered in Illinois and Missouri; wants situation in city or country. Ad. J. Mackey, 2633 Pine st., St. Louis.

ENGINEER—Wanted, situation by licensed engineer as night watchman; refs. from late employer. Ad. 1578, this office.

MAN—Wanted, situation cleaning carpets, renovating, laying and general house cleaning. Alfred Stewart, 2109 Walnut, St. Louis.

MAN—Young man of 20 wishes situation with private family, to care for horse and work around house. Apply 2094 St. Louis av.

MAN—A middle-aged gentleman wants a position to work around the house, attended to horse, etc.; quiet, sober and a Christian. Ad. 1575, this office.

MAN—Wanted, work by hard-working young married man, willing to do anything; no chattering. Ad. 1576, this office.

MAN—A well educated man of 18 wishes position; 1400 or $20 cash security. Ad. W. 523, this office.

MAN—Wanted, situation by trustworthy German; experience in wholesale house, saloon, grocery; best city refs.; do anything for moderate salary. Ad. Marshall, 912 N. 20th st.

MAN—Wanted, situation by young man in meat shop; speaks German and English; will furnish good references. Ad. 1578, this office.

PAPER-CLEANER—Wall paper cleaner, experienced, wants work; will work by the day or job. Ad. Marshall, 912 N. 20th st.

PAINTER—Wanted, house and sign painting, paper-hanging and whitening work; satisfaction. Ad. E. Sparks, 812 N. 20th st.

STENOGRAPHER—Situation as stenographer, typewriter, office assistant or collector; first-class references; salary moderate. Ad. E. 580, this office.

$10.00 UP—Suits and overcoats to order. Men's Tailoring Co., 8th and Olive.

$2.50 UP—Pants to order. Men's Tailoring Co., 219 N. 8th, cor. Olive, 2d floor.

HELP WANTED—MALE.

14 words or less, 10c.

BLACKSMITH—A boy who has some experience in shoeing horses. 1529 N. Broadway.

BLACKSMITH—Wanted—Good, all-around blacksmith; strictly sober. Ad. R. H. Fowler, Fulton, Mo.

COLLECTOR—Wanted—A collector; $65 month; bond required. Ad. R. 276, this office.

FREE treatment for all private, blood and rectal diseases. General Dispensary, 1408 Franklin av.

MAN WANTED—Experienced man to assist in store work; West End Hotel; references.

MAN WANTED—An old single German for general house work. 820 Morgan st., upstairs.

MEN WANTED—Two reliable men to distribute advertising. Anderson-Wade, 8th and Locust.

MAN WANTED—Man competent to measure a cellar excavation. Call at 1097 Bell av., after 4 p. m.

MAN WANTED—Young colored man for housework. Apply 2832 Efton.

OX-BLOOD TAN—Looks and feels like a $5 shoe; made of 15 top shoes, $2.95. Harris, 444 Mass. 620 Pine.

SALERMAN WANTED—Salesman calling on drug and grocery trade. Call at room 22, Emily building, 810 N. 10th st., this office.

SALERMAN WANTED—To sell vinegar as a side line. Ad. B. 778, this office.

SALERMAN WANTED—$100 to $125 per month and exp.; staple line; position permanent, pleasant and desirable. Ad. King & Co., 717 N. Chicago.

TEAMSTER WANTED—A good teamster to haul. 4443 Routh st.

TEAMS WANTED—Teams for grading at Knox and Manchester aces. Mike Costello.

WANTED—AN IDEA—Who can think of some simple thing to patent? For more ideas, they may bring on wealth. Write John Wedderburn, c/o Patent Attorney, W. from 1021 C. G., for his $1.80 prize and list of inventions wanted.

RUBICAN SHORTHAND COLLEGE

701-23 Union Trust Building; exclusively for young ladies; positions secured; graduates; thorough mail course. Telephone 2004.

STOVE REPAIRS.

Castings and repairs for stoves and ranges of every description. A. G. Brauer, 138 Locust st.

THE BIG POLICEMAN.

The big policeman felt unusually pleasant this morning, notwithstanding the fact that a disagreeable rain was falling—mean spring rain, which had mixed itself up with a cold rain such a manner that when it came dashing down the street corner it caused profane pedestrians to say words which would look ill if printed, and the "other kind" to say "My goodness," or something equally as relieving to pent-up indignation.

The policeman was the embodiment of health; his eyes were as limpid as a mountain spring and his cheeks glowed like the heart of a rose. He had less of the mischievous blood in his veins than is usual with his class, and his features were regular, his dark hair crisp and curling under the brim of his hat, and his mustache, long and silken, shaded a well-cut, good natured mouth filled with teeth which were not tobacco stained and which, when he smiled, showed in two perfect rows.

At the point of fact, the big policeman was a handsome man, and, having now and then caught minor attention from the feminine line, he had, without being vain, become aware of the fact.

This morning he felt at peace with the world because his chief had complimented him, and as he took his place at the crossing of one of the great city thoroughfares he braced himself against the wind and rain and thought that, after all, things might be much worse for him. He remembered a day, when the soft side of a bed was a stranger, and he also remembered that he would have gone hungry many a time had not a certain charitable institution opened its doors to him, but that was in the past, and as he gazed down at his uniform, somewhat rain-soaked, to be sure, but with the buttons gleaming like real gold, he almost forgot that men and women were stepping on each other's heads in the throng of the ever-present cable car, and once, to the astonishment of the crowd, he saw a woman with a crown on her face which seemed to have found a warm welcome, he broke into a bird-like whistle.

All day long, while the woman thought, "he had best be helping long women themselves. She was white and shivering, crushed to pieces," and evidently the policeman read the glance she gave him aright, for he threw up his hand at a passing teamster and the latter paused long enough to give the policeman a chance to reach the opposite curb.

As he turned again to his usual position he saw a little woman, attired in some kind of stuff and with big pathetic eyes, standing beside him, and somehow she seemed to be looking at him with the passing vehicles, the clanging street car bells, and the constant passing of the cars themselves. She was white and shivering, and her garments, wet through, clung about her in a hindering fashion which kept her from rapid movement, and as she stepped close beside the big policeman he felt a curious desire to take her up, much as one would take up a child, and carry her to a place of safety. She hesitated a moment and then she attempted to go forward, but, alas! whether the rain blinded her or she just remembered that she was in haste and that at any risk she must get on her way, she attempted to cross the track just in front of the policeman. The big policeman, the grimace on his face, the look in his eyes, the tragedy was about to be enacted, was about to be enacted, was about to be enacted. The big policeman also comprehended the awful danger of the woman and his teeth came to chattering, but he was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

He might hate her for being the cause, but Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could. When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

WANTED.

Experienced salesladies for lace department. Apply at

PENNY & GENTLES.

PARTNERS WANTED.

14 words or less, 20c.

PARTNER—Wanted, partner in sawmill with $400 cash; good chance. Call 3850 St. Ferdinand av.

PARTNER—Wanted, a partner with $100 cash to start in paying business. Ad. F. Hawk, 219 S. Jefferson.

AGENTS WANTED.

14 words or less, 20c.

AGENTS WANTED—To insure growing crops against hail. Address Thos. J. Mosier, Secretary, 118 Locust st.

CHANDLERS.

14 words or less, 20c.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

CHANDLER—Wanted, a good Chandler for general housework; references required. Apply 1825 Hickory st.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought of "way," and then at the next corner she climbed out of the car and waited for a policeman to take her home. Marie was a brave little woman and she knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

When she started home in the evening from the first newsboy she came across as bought a paper and, with rare good fortune, finding a seat in the car which bore her home, she quickly unfolded the paper and began to scan the headlines. There were big, bold headlines on the first page, but there was nothing about the affair which she was so vitally interested in, and she turned the paper over and there it was, "The Death of a Hero," and the big policeman, who was a brave little man, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could, and he knew as well as the crowd that she must do what she could.

Marie sighed and puckered her white forehead in a frown, while she thought

SERMON ON WOMEN BY FR. O'BRIEN.

ST. LEO'S PASTOR EDIFIES HIS FAIR PARISHIONERS.

GOOD ADVICE TO THE GIRLS.

A Level-Headed Priest Tells How Woman May Approach the Earthly Degree of Perfection.

A congregation that filled the large auditorium of St. Leo's Church, Twenty-third and Mullanphy streets, heard Fr. J. J. O'Brien's sermon on "The Perfect Woman" Thursday evening.

A great proportion of the audience was feminine. Many present were young women who had followed the pastor through his series of lectures to those contemplating or hoping for a contemplative matrimony. This last discourse was more general, and addressed to womanhood, married or single, although at times the minister would direct the attention of the young to some point pertaining especially to them and their conduct.

The closest attention was paid to his remarks and the smiles of amusement that always followed the exposure of some feminine weakness demonstrated how closely the minister kept to nature. That it was possible for a man held aloof by the church from close association with women to have such an understanding of their character caused much surprise and comment. There were frequent nods of approval and whisperings "that's so."

But throughout it could be seen from the individual expression that it was the other woman the sermon was meant to benefit. Fr. O'Brien at first called attention to him in whose likeness we are created and the fall from that perfection.

"Like man," he said, "no woman is perfect, no matter how noble be the plaudits of her neighbors. She deceives herself in thinking so. All she can do is to aim at perfection and by her daily life approach nearer that standard. Gentleness, evenness of temper, sweetness of disposition, modesty and religious piety in its true sense are the essentials of the perfection woman can hope to attain in this life."

"It is necessary that none of these should be forgotten one moment. They must be practiced in the domestic life, in the home, as well as before company. I wish to call particular attention to the young lady's conduct, among her brothers and sisters. Much of a brother's uncouthness will disappear in close companionship with a sweet-tempered sister. He will be less prone to grab his hat after supper and join the crowd on the street corner, or seek the company of somebody else's sister. Constant quarreling and fussing combined with eternal self-assertion do not go to make up the perfect woman."

"Then there is the fickle and changeable girl who never knows what she does want, and when she receives what is coveted is all the more dissatisfied. She is never pleased, and when corrected wants to complain, or her family does. As a rule this girl abhors housework and all the things necessary for the successful conduct of a home, ever ready to drop her broom into her mother's hand, while she flies to the parlor to entertain Jack or M. Jones. Such conduct makes long faces and heavy hearts. If you know such a woman, shun her, young man, she is a bundle of imperfections."

"The corner-stone of self-will and arrogance is pride. If it were not so you girls would not be so determined to have your own way in everything. You would be more kindly advice and in so doing take a long step toward perfection. This pride is of the lowest measure. It drives you away from the home, to remain away until that coldling sister goes to bed. Young ladies, make up your minds to resolve to give now to be a ray of sunshine in your home, and make it a duty to be kind and considerate. Instead of a source of discomfort and embarrassment to everyone about you, become a blessing to the family and the nation."

"Now let us see the young lady in company. Who will admit that the loud-voiced woman is perfect? The woman that talks across the length of a street, who will tell she knows, particularly about other people's business, only loses the respect of everyone that hears her. Do not let your voices be heard loud in public places; it denotes a weakness, a lack of modesty. It does not mean you should be long-faced and sorrowful; be happy and show your happiness, but be modest. Cultivate modesty and quiet pleasantness. Let your strength be in your weakness. The moment a woman strives to be a man and takes on mannish ways she loses the influence that is hers naturally. Let her vanish in the minds of men, and she has lost the very light of her life. She must keep within her proper sphere."

"Lovers who quarrel and wives who have misunderstandings with their husbands will find that gentleness will do more to shame the 'horrid man' than anger. Therefore, practice it, if you want to be victorious in this world. A woman aspiring to perfection must have religion. She must have a respect and love for things heavenly. Before she can teach others, Religion will purify her soul and increase the love that is the cause she has chosen the laws that make her perfect."

LEOTTA RECITAL.

The Benefit for the St. Louis Protestant Hospital.

The Leotta Recital last night at Memorial Hall for the benefit of the St. Louis Protestant Hospital, located at Webster Groves, was a social and pecuniary success. The hall was filled with the select and cultured element of St. Louis society, an audience thoroughly appreciative of Leotta's wonderful versatility and cleverness. The singers have secured her for "The Children's Hour" Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Delmar Avenue Congregational Church. Leotta has a programme specially arranged for the little ones, consisting of several of the larger circle hundreds of children have been turned away for want of room. Older people will also have a treat, as the best authors will be represented on the programme.

For rheumatism and neuralgia you cannot get a better remedy than Salvation Oil.

ORGANIZED FOR THE YEAR.

Meeting of the Merchants' Exchange Mutual Benevolent Association.

After several unsuccessful attempts to secure a quorum, the trustees of the Merchants' Exchange Mutual Benevolent Association finally met Thursday afternoon and organized for the coming year. John W. Wilson, Vice-President; E. O. Starnard, Secretary and Treasurer.

Drs. William Portch and Otto E. Forster were appointed examining physicians and Dr. E. Dyer, attorney. Henry G. Craft, O. L. Whitelaw and J. M. McMillan were made an Executive Committee.

The board ordered the benefits to be paid to the heirs of John Kraus, L. C. Baker and A. B. Glover.

Burlington Route to Central Iowa.

Homeopathic Graduates.

The following were graduated from the Homeopathic Medical College Thursday night: Frederick Auf der Heide, Charles W. Baird, Katharine Bailey, C. O. Bohn, Homer G. Callahan, Edwin C. Olson, Albert O. Ehling, Paul R. Fletcher, Everett E. Gordon, Herbert A. Green, Charles W. Gilman, Orlando G. Gibson, Hubert C. Hannan, William Jones, John H. McCaughan, Louis Barkow, William C. Olson, Albert Schuppman, Frederick A. Seed, Caroline B. Bickel, Harry S. Woodward, Roy E. Wilson, George W. Wheat and John Zwart. The exercises were held at the Pickwick Theater.

Deaf and Dumb Man Expresses His Thanks.

He saved $2.50 to $5.00 of those fine Baltimore Merchant tailor-made suits, ready made or to order. Best known maker, and only one to fit. Globe, B. W. sec. Seventh and Franklin avenues.

Notwithstanding the phenomenal values we are offering—we still continue to present a

HANDSOME AND SERVICE-ABLE WATCH FREE

With All Men's and Young Men's Suits at $12.50 and up.

See them in our Broadway Windows.

Famous

BROADWAY AND MORGAN

WE ARE OPEN EVERY SATURDAY EVENING IN THE YEAR UNTIL 10 O'CLOCK.

SEE The Beautiful Easter Display in our Clothing Window—Broadway side.

Setting Such a Face in Clothing= Selling, Competition Is Impossible.

Our conceded supremacy has a plausible explanation. We buy more clothing than any other single house in the country—we are thus able to obtain discounts and concessions others never get. We are—by reason of our enormous sales—satisfied with a smaller margin of profit than other houses could exist on.

These Strong—Potent Indisputable Facts—Enable Famous to Sell the Very Best Clothing that Human Hands Can Put Together—at Lower Prices Than Any and All Attempts at Competition.

We make no claims we cannot prove. We are anxious—eager—to substantiate every statement we make. You need not take our word for it—it's easy to prove for yourself. Look about—compare qualities and prices—then come here and permit one of our salesmen to show you our stock and to quote you our prices—and you can figure the saving out for yourself—black on white.

We Challenge All St. Louis to Match Our Assortment of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing for the Spring of '97

The stock is now in the zenith of its completeness—radiant with newness—one hundred patterns where others show you ten—ten styles where others show you one—prices as you'll find them nowhere else. Come—To-Morrow—Saturday.

Men's High Art Clothing.

We are proving, day after day, that Famous is competitionless in this market.

Men's Nobby Business Suits—the very latest styles in three and four button single and double breasted sack suits—all wool nobby Scotch mixtures and blue and black chevrons—qualities such as other stores ask $10 and $12.50 for—yours Saturday at Famous for..... $7.50

Men's Sack and Cutaway Frock Suits—Made in accordance with latest dictations of fashion—all those popular Scotch effects—also fancy worsteds, neat plaids and mixtures—and black and blue clay worsteds—elegantly made and finished—sell $15 suits at Famous for..... $10.00

Men's Fine Suits—Superior Qualities of fine mixed cassimeres, blue and black clays and chevrons and swell Scotch mixtures—fine Italian linings—satin piped—cutaway frocks and Prince Alberts—made at Famous under $18. Here the price is..... $12.50

Men's Sewell Suits as Stylish—as well made—as perfect fitting as the best custom tailors produce at $25 and $30—single and double breasted sacks—cutaway frocks and Prince Alberts—all the newest fabrics—all the kinks of fancy tailoring—no other store could sell them for less than $20. At Famous for..... $15.00

Still Finer Men's Suits. Finer materials, costlier linings, superb in every detail—entirely unlike any you have ever before seen in ready-to-wear clothing stock—many designs exclusive with Famous. Your tailor would double for equal qualities—at Famous yours for..... $18, $20, $22.50, $25

Men's Spring Top Coats. An Assortment that for beauty, extent and low price—will surprise you. Black and blue chevrons—black Tibbets—black, gray and blue and white—English whip cords and covert cloths—all the stylish colors and shades—box cut or medium length—plain or strapped seams—elegantly made, lined and trimmed—Prices fully 25 per cent lower than in any other house in St. Louis..... $5.00 to $15.00

We Are Showing An Immense Line of Brand New Bicycle Suits In all the latest colorings, designs and effects—strong fabrics—strongly put together—Price..... $5.00 AND UPWARDS.

Bicycle Pants—An immense assortment—here for your choice—ing—prices remarkably low. 87c AND UP

Mackintoshes—Fine Cheviot and worsted Mackintoshes—box shape—with capes—sewed, strapped and buttoned—made at Famous for..... $7

Mackintoshes—Black and blue Cashmere Mackintoshes—cut extra large and long—with detachable Capes, sold everywhere for $6—our price Saturday..... $4.50

Boys' Rubber Coats—worth fully $2.50—yours Saturday at Famous..... $1.48

MEN'S FURNISHINGS FOR EASTER.

Every late style—every tiny effect is fully represented here—with a substantial saving in every price.

Men's genuine horn-horn—the silver-trimmed silk Gloria Umbrellas—steel rod—paragon frame—silk cover and fast. $2.48

Men's extra quality Silk Puff Bosom Shirts—the regular $1.50 kind—here for..... 98c

Full line of Men's Manhattan white and colored bosom shirts—made at Famous for..... $1

Men's Easter Gloves—all the newest shades, at $2, $1.50, $1 and as cheap as..... 75c

Men's Balbriggan and Tan colored Shirts and Drawers, the kind that others ask 40c for..... 25c

Men's genuine Lisle Thread Under-shirts—made at Famous for..... 59c

Genuine silver-trimmed Fancy Colored Border Hemstitched Under-shirts—made at Famous for..... 50c

Men's latest novelties in Fancy Colored Under-shirts—the regular $2.00 kind—made at Famous for..... 17c

New All-wool Sweaters for Men 75c and boys at..... $1.50, $1.00 and

During the sharp, cold rain of Thursday night, Mrs. Gertrude Barr, a 19-year-old and Has Had an Eternity of Woo.

Supt. Sutter made a hasty examination and saw that the mother's diagnosis was correct. The child's condition was critical and the mother begged not to be separated from it.

They were assigned to quarters in the diphtheria ward. Treatment was applied, and soon the babe dropped into an apparently peaceful sleep. Worn out by constant watching the mother soon followed and slept soundly. Friday morning when Mrs. Barr awoke she noticed the child at her side was strangely still. She passed her hand over her baby's face and found it cold. Springing to her feet she snatched her baby in her arms and called for the nurse. She felt that her baby was dead, and the nurse confirmed her fears as she swooned and would have fallen had not the nurse caught her. The child was taken from her. Restoratives were applied and soon Mrs. Barr was conscious.

Dr. Sutter was summoned and tried to console the grief-stricken mother. Worn out with weary watching, aided by the exposure, Mrs. Barr had herself contracted diphtheria.

NEW, STYLISH EASTER FOOTWEAR.

FREE! Beautiful Easter Novelties free with all purchases in this department—Bears, Chickens, Ducks, Turkeys, Geese, Rabbits, Elephants, Dogs, Horses, Lions, Tigers, Pigs—very life-like—just as cute as they can be—also bisque dolls free with infants' shoes.

Men's Fine Vici Kid and Russia Leather Lace shoes—Goodyear Welt—Exclusive spring styles, including New Collin, Monarch and Victor toes—Ox Blood, Mahogany, Walnut Brown and Tan shades. The most complete line ever offered at a popular price. Sizes 6 to 11. Widths A to E. Famous Price..... $2.95

Ladies' Fine "Hansel's" Kid hand turned, lace shoes—very soft and pliable—A second shipment of these very popular shoes just received—Ox Blood, Chocolate, Wine and Dark Tan—in Bazar and Collin toes. They're well worth $4.00. Sizes 5 to 7. Widths A to E. Famous Price..... $2.95

Ladies' Dongola, Button and Lace Shoes—flexible soles—Century, Collin and Bulldog toes—Black, Ox Blood, Spring Heel—flexible single soles—suitable for dress or every day wear. Sizes 5 to 7. Widths A to E. Famous Price..... $1.50

Children's sizes, same as above. 6 to 8..... $1.25
Infants' Fine Kid, Button shoes—Tipped—silk Tassel and trimmed—Black, Chocolate and Wine colors—Size 2 to 5. Widths A to E. Famous Price..... 50c

Children's sizes, same as above. 5, 6 and 8 widths..... 50c
Children's sizes, same as above..... 75c

EASTER NECKWEAR.

We are showing all the latest novelties in four-hands—Imperial—Flowing End Scarfs—Club-House Ties—Band and Fuxedo Bows—the best makers' choice of an almost endless assortment..... 50c

Full line of Men's and Boys' White Lawn and Silk Neckwear—in band and shield bows—made at Famous for..... 5c

Special line of Men's full size silk lined Ties—Band Bows, Club-House Ties—choice at Famous for..... 25c

Famous

BROADWAY AND MORGAN

Your Money Back if You Want It

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

Confirmation and School Suits

From our great purchase of the entire stock of Dayton & Close, New York.

Ball and Bat Free With All Boys' and Children's Suits.

Dayton & Close Young Men's Suits—Blue and black—strictly pure Worsteds—un-finished Worsteds—Worsted Cheviots—Fine All-Wool Smooth Cassimeres—Rough Cheviots and Tweeds—beautiful shades and colorings in the popular plaids—overall plaids, checks and mingled effects. Either single or double-breasted styles. In no other store at less than $10.00. Famous trade-winning price..... $7.00

Dayton & Close Young Men's Suits—Black and Blue Fine Dress Suits—made of Imported Clay Diagonals—Dress Worsteds, and Soft-Finish Worsteds—also beautiful colorings and patterns in Fancy Worsteds, Cassimeres and Tweeds—all elegantly tailored and finely trimmed—all resplendent in their newness and good taste. The equal of any $15.00 line of suits in town. At Famous only..... $10.00

Dayton & Close Knee Suits—Ages 3 to 10 made reefer style; ages 7 to 16 made double and single-breasted. They comprise blue, black and illuminated Clay diagonals—ten styles of stylish rough finished imported plaid tweeds—besides an immense variety of both plain and fancy cassimeres and chevrons—sold elsewhere at $4.00 and $5.00. Come where you can see the variety—Famous Price..... $2.98

Dayton & Close Knee Suits—More than 100 styles to choose from, comprising blue and black Dress Worsteds of every description—the finest imported tweeds, chevrons—fancy worsteds and worsted-cassimeres. The styles were never so low—See this wonderful line, worth $8.00—At Famous..... $4.95

Dayton and Close Novelty Suits, Junior, Reefer, Middy, Admiral, Yorkshire and Sailor Suits. An immense assortment of beautiful styles—every one finely made of pure wool goods—finely finished and trimmed. They will range in other stores at $3.50 to $4.00. At Famous only..... $2.48

Dayton & Close Novelty Suits. No new style—no swell pattern, color, combination or effect that you will not find in our superb stock—you will be surprised at their goodness and marvel at the low price. Elsewhere $5.50, $7. Famous..... $4.95 AND $3.98

Fauntleroy Blouses. Most complete assortment in the city—of pure wool materials, colorings and combinations—10 special lines to choose from—made at Famous for..... $1.00

Laundered Shirt Waists. Mothers' Friend and Union Makes—made of first-class Percales—the factory price has been and is now $6.50 per dozen. Select what you want at..... 39c

EASTER SHOWING OF NEW HATS. Our Men's Derby Hats at $2.50 are World Beaters. Last Season we sold elsewhere under $4.00. They come in blacks, browns, fawns and tan colors—silk trimmed—correct copies of the best made in London, Knox and Younan blocks. Beauties, and you'll agree with us when you see them..... $2.50

Men's Derby and Fedora Hats—trimmed with Silk—Satin—black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... $1.50

The Newest Things in Boys' Golf Caps—all patterns—regularly $1.00—line—reduced for Saturday's selling..... 33c

Boys' Fine Knee Pants—Size 7 to 14. An immense table full—small sizes made of pure wool materials, colorings and combinations—made at Famous for..... 95c

Knee Pants—Size 3 to 14. Made of strictly pure Wool Tweeds, with double seats and knees—elastic bands and riveted buttons—all colors. Would be cheap at 75c. At Famous..... 48c

Boys' Fedora Hats—Black and brown colors, nicely silk trimmed—actual value $1.25. Yours Saturday at Famous for..... 75c

SEE THAT THE NAME IS STAMPED ON EACH CIGAR. Having Purchased and Imported a large quantity of Havana Tobacco before Weyler's order forbidding the export of tobacco from Cuba, THE QUALITY OF THE WATER-WORKS EXPERT. Commissioner Holman Called Upon by the Cincinnati Authorities.

Water Commissioner M. L. Holman received a letter Thursday from Augustus Herlihy, President of the Cincinnati Commissioners of Water Works, notifying him of his appointment as a member of a commission of experts to examine plans proposed for extensions to that city's water works.

The other members are Henry Fied of St. Louis, ex-President of the Board of Public Improvements, now a member of the Mississippi River Commission; Charles Herlihy of Louisville, Patrick F. Stearns of Boston and Samuel M. Pelton of Cincinnati.

Mr. Holman has served in a similar capacity at Kansas City and Chicago.

For the Colored Orphans. An entertainment will be given at Music Hall next Thursday night for the benefit of the Colored Orphan Home. It will be styled "Thirty Years of Freedom." The program will be rendered exclusively by colored people. The list of patrons of the home comprises a number of prominent St. Louisans, including ex-Gov. Wm. J. Stone, Chauncey L. Piller, Daniel Catlin and Bishop Daniel A. Tuttle.

Attachment for Lanky Bob. New York Printing Concern Wants the Fighter to Pay a Debt.

The Metropolitan Printing Company of New York obtained an attachment against "Lanky Bob" Fitzsimmons for an indebtedness of $36.75 late Thursday afternoon.

Misplaced Couples. Suit for divorce was filed Thursday by E. C. Taylor against Frances J. Taylor, alleging desertion. The couple were married at Johnson City, Tenn., Oct. 12, 1887, while their little girl Gertrude was born. Mrs. Taylor left her husband three months afterward.

Samuel Grosberg sued Rebecca Grosberg for divorce, alleging that she refused to cook his meals and frequently threw old shoes at him. They were married in 1882 and Aug. 1, 1883, Grosberg decided he would go elsewhere for his meals.

Water-Works Expert. Commissioner Holman Called Upon by the Cincinnati Authorities.

Water Commissioner M. L. Holman received a letter Thursday from Augustus Herlihy, President of the Cincinnati Commissioners of Water Works, notifying him of his appointment as a member of a commission of experts to examine plans proposed for extensions to that city's water works.

The other members are Henry Fied of St. Louis, ex-President of the Board of Public Improvements, now a member of the Mississippi River Commission; Charles Herlihy of Louisville, Patrick F. Stearns of Boston and Samuel M. Pelton of Cincinnati.

Mr. Holman has served in a similar capacity at Kansas City and Chicago.

EASTER OFFERINGS

FOR THE SPRING 1897.

SURPASSES all our previous efforts. Our stock of Suits and Spring Overcoats must be seen to be appreciated. We show the latest, the highest class of workmanship, the finest trimmings, the noblest patterns and latest styles. You will find no cheap constructed clothing in our store, but prices are lower than ever and within reach of everybody.

$7.50	Buys a Suit made to order for.....	$15.00
$10.00	Buys a Suit made to order for.....	$20.00
$12.00	Buys a Suit made to order for.....	$25.00
$15.00	Buys a Suit made to order for.....	$30.00
$6.00	Buys a $15.00 Made-to-Order Spring Overcoat.
$8.00	Buys a $20.00 Made-to-Order Spring Overcoat.
$10.00	Buys a $25.00 Made-to-Order Spring Overcoat.

Any amount of Trouser from $2.00 to $5.00, made to order for more than double the money. Before leaving your order for a Suit with high collar and so-called cheap tailor come and see our superb stock. You will not meet with disappointment. We assure your trade and we are sure to please you or your money refunded at the

ORIGINAL MISFIT PARLORS

...708...

OLIVE STREET,

Opposite Union Trust Building.

Open Till 9 P. M. Saturday 10:30 P. M.

SAVE PAIN. SAVE MONEY. TEETH EXTRACTED FREE WITHOUT PAIN.

Daily from 10 to 12 and from 4 to 5 by a method patented and used by no other.

Until April 11 we will make a Full Set of Teeth for..... $3.00

Gold Crowns, 22k..... $4.00
Silver Fillings..... $4.00
Gold Fillings..... 75c up
Cleaning Teeth..... 50c

National Dental Parlor, 730 OLIVE STREET. Largest office in the city; 6000 square feet of office room.

Dr. Tarr and his skilled staff of operators are here to extract your teeth and fill your teeth. Lady attendants. OPEN DAILY TILL 9 P. M. SUNDAYS 9 to 4. This elevator.

"QUICK MEAT" RANGES. RINGEN STOVE CO.